Subject: US Communications week ahead for 8/2/21

Hey all,

It's August! bp Q2 earnings tomorrow and then we can all take a breath. BL appears on CNBC (US) tomorrow at about 7:30a EDT to discuss our results.

SAFETY MOMENT: There is a rapidly re-emerging threat from COVID that prompted an update to our US mask policy (based on CDC recommendations, masks are now required in Houston, DC, Chicago and elsewhere). We cannot emphasize enough the importance of safety, which includes getting vaccinated and wearing a mask in the appropriate setting. I trust everyone on this team prioritizes safety but hope you'll also encourage others – inside and outside the company – to do the same.

CONTENT TOOLKIT UPDATE: bp's global policy position document was updated last week. At 116 pages, it's not exactly beach reading but does provide high-level guidance on policy positions (as always, consult with Downey's team about US-specific policy activities). bp policy positions 2021-07.pdf
- Stay tuned: next week the Content Toolkit will add IR's Q&A from the 2Q results.

On the topic of US policy, the Senate debates a $1T infrastructure bill this week. Our policy team is reviewing the 2,800+ page bill and will provide relevant context shortly.

Make it the best week,

JP

PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT:

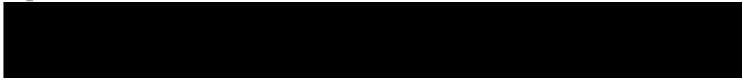

Work stuff:

- CBS Sunday Morning profiled Butte, MT. Why is it relevant to us? Because Atlantic Richfield – owned by bp – purchased Anaconda Copper in 1976 and closed the mines in 1983. Atlantic Richfield in 2020 settled negotiations with the EPA, local and state governments after 30 years of negotiation with a consent decree. It's worth the watch to understand the town and impact of the mine. Hat tip to Cam Nazminia for finding this segment and managing the issue in his previous role!
- Carbon capture and storage has been touted by some in our sector as the key to continued gas production in a carbon-constrained world. But does it really work? The FT analyzed the progress of Chevron's CCUS facility in Western Australia, where it promised to store 100m tonnes of greenhouse gas emissions.

Fun August stuff:

- Get out tomorrow night (safely!): did you know that across the US, Tuesday is National Night Out, an annual community-building event, promoting better relations with local police forces
- Moment of the Olympics: a lot of memorable moments in these games but I most appreciate Sifan Hassan, a Dutch middle distance runner and world record holder at 1500 meters. She tripped and fell heading into the final lap of her heat, putting her WAY back – watch what happens next....
- Bruce Springsteen made a compilation of “frat rock” songs and Stereogum has compiled them into a Spotify playlist. When I hear “frat rock,” I think Hootie & the Blowfish — I never heard “Surfin’ Bird” by The Trashmen — but man, I wish I had.
- Snoop staying on message: A fantastic NYTimes interview with Snoop Dogg. Why here? Great context on the importance of remaining on message. As he said, “The easiest thing you can do is just do you. I felt like doing me would be the easiest path to me remaining relevant in the industry. It’s originality and uniqueness. I just try to do me.”
