TODAY AT 12:15 pm EDT: API to Hold Media Call to Discuss Industry Action and Policies on Climate Change

WASHINGTON, March 25, 2021 – Ahead of President Biden's first press conference, the American Petroleum Institute (API) will hold a media call at 12:15 PM EDT today to discuss how the natural gas and oil industry is working to address the risks of climate change and engaging the new administration to drive further progress on emissions reductions. Earlier this week, API President and CEO Mike Sommers met virtually with National Climate Advisor Gina McCarthy alongside other industry leaders to discuss how we can achieve our shared goal of a low-carbon future while sustaining American energy leadership.

WHO: API President and CEO Mike Sommers

WHAT: Press briefing call

WHEN: TODAY, Thursday, March 25
12:15 PM EDT

This event is for credentialed members of the media only.

API represents all segments of America's natural gas and oil industry, which supports more than ten million U.S. jobs and is backed by a growing grassroots movement of millions of Americans. Our 600 members produce, process and distribute the majority of the nation's energy, and participate in API Energy Excellence, which is accelerating environmental and safety progress by fostering new technologies and transparent reporting. API was formed in 1919 as a standards-setting organization and has developed more than 700 standards to enhance operational and environmental safety, efficiency and sustainability.
