Both,

I'm meeting Kevin on Friday 1515-16.00 in SJS to discuss this project.

I have no problem engaging in this or responding to his specific questions (see letter).

Would you have concerns, and would you like to join the meeting?

Paul

Thank you Paul (and Kelly).

I arrive in London tomorrow (Tuesday) night and fly back home on Friday night. My Wednesday (10/25) is fairly open and flexible until the 6 pm dinner at BP. Of course we have our all-day meeting at BP on Thursday and then the OGCI until 12:30 pm on Friday. My flight home isn't until 8 pm Friday so I also have availability Friday afternoon.

BPA_HCOR_00273660

Might one of those windows work?

I'm not sure if Gardiner shared the attached project description, but it will give you background and details about the research project. Also attached is the generic request letter that we will be using to ask corporate leaders to participate.

I look forward to catching up and to your counsel.

All the best,

Kevin

Happy to meet of course, the only obstacle will be finding a time. When do you arrive and leave?

Paul and Kevin,

I'm writing to directly connect the two of you for a meeting in London if you have any availability, Paul. As you will remember from our meeting in Princeton, Paul, Kevin is leading this research project on corporate engagement on climate in the Trump era. He wants to introduce the project to you and discuss BP's possible engagement — on or off the record.

I'll leave it to you to work on finding a time if we can fit it in. I thought it seemed worth trying to do since you could actually meet in person!

Best,
Kelly

P.S. Looking forward to seeing you Paul.
