Barrasso Will Introduce Measure Repealing Interior Venting Rule

January 17, 2017 04:14PM ET | Bloomberg First Word

(Bloomberg) -- Sen. John Barrasso, R-Wyo., says he will introduce a resolution of disapproval targeting an Interior Dept rule limiting venting and flaring of natural gas for repeal.

- Barrasso made pledge during Senate hearing on Ryan Zinke's nomination to be Interior secretary under President-elect Donald Trump
- NOTE: Venting rule seen as limiting emissions of methane, a potent greenhouse gas; it would apply to wells on public land
- Resolution would be advanced under Congressional Review Act, which allows filibuster-free votes on major rules

○ NOTE: House Majority Leader Kevin McCarthy also has identified the venting and flaring rule as a CRA target, with action expected in the House the week of Jan. 30; an Interior Dept rule aimed at protecting streams from coal mining also slated for repeal vote
